

THE VIEW POINT

Mission:

The View Point Newspaper is determined to provide the community with factual and credible news. Our goal is to create a news service that provides information to the High Point University community with the intent that it keeps the public informed. We are an unaffiliated, nonprofit newspaper working to give a voice to the voiceless.

How was The View Point founded?

Caroline Peacock, a journalism student at High Point University, founded the newspaper because she wanted the High Point University community a voice, and to create a platform encouraging freedom of speech and expression.

What does an unaffiliated newspaper mean?

Currently, High Point University has one campus media outlet, Q News, which is monitored through the university. The View Point is an unaffiliated, underground newspaper, which means the university has no control over the content published. The newspaper receives outside fundings through donations on its website and does not receive funding or aid from the university. The View Point editorial board makes all the decisions for the publication, including what will or will not be published.

Want to contribute to The View Point?

We accept submissions for written work and art. Submissions will be accepted based on the following criteria: accuracy, credibility, fairness, balance, and newsworthiness. To submit work or to send in a tip, email us at theviewpointnewspaper@gmail.com.

Want to become an editor or reporter?

The View Point is actively accepting applications year round for editors and reporters. To become an editor or reporter send your resume, contact information, and at least two writing samples to theviewpointnewspaper@gmail.com.

Topics:

The View Point has nine topics that will be the main area of focus for the newspaper. Each topic has an assigned editor that will work with reporters, writers and contributors to edit, report and put together a story. The topics are as follows:

THE VIEW POINT

I. Breaking News
II. Opinion
III. Features
IV. Greek
V. Politics

VI. Sports
VII. Science
